"The Authority on Authorities"

IN A DUPLICATE tournament, with match-point scoring, unless you figure you are probably ahead of your opposition and wish to be as conservative as possible to protect your lead, it is well to look for "different" ways of playing the hands. By that is meant methods which probably are not used by your chief rivals in the game. If you see a combination of cards which can be played in either of two ways, one of them practically as sound as the other the procedure to follow, when you are seeking top scores, is the one each declarer, after taking the first trick with the spade A, led to the heart K and brought back the 10, covering it with the J. West won the finesse with his Q, then decided the spade suit was not hopeful, as finding East with the J. Q and K originally was unlikely. So each West decided upon a switch to the diamond 10, and the A won, setting the contract.

The "shooter" at the remaining 6-Hearts table studied a bit after winning the first spade trick. He reckoned that his rivals would take the heart K and finesse the J. so he chose to do differently. He led the J from his hand. West refused to cover, so the J rode through. The heart K, club A and heart A cleared trumps. Thus two spades were scored, six heart tricks and five clubs, 13 in all, one more than needed.

U. S. Soldiers May Carry Vial Of Blood Serum

Likely To Be Own Donor, Surgical Expert Points Out

By NORMAN WALKER

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 15. (A) -Every United States soldier eventually may carry a vial of his own blood serum tucked away in his knapsack for immediate transfusion case he's wounded on the battle-

It would be bled from his veins beforehand, turned into a light brown powder at Louisiana State University's proposed drying plant, and given back to him in a form weighing only a few ounces.

"Every soldier might be his own onor, inasmuch as his blood, after drying, could be given him to carry n a small container," commented Dr. Urban Maes, director of the L.S.U. medical school's surgery department.

"In this way," he added, "the wounded man could be given not only his own blood serum, but also that of his unwounded comrades."

Based on its study of the University of Toronto's laboratories, now quadrupling blood-drying facilities for supplying Great Britain's armed forces, L.S.U. plans a similar plant for its New Orleans medical center—termed ideally strategic by Governor Sam Jones for fast airplane shipments throughout the Western Hemisphere as well as to U. S. insular defense bases.

The dried product, reported by Dr. Maes as equally effective as natural blood, is obtained by drying erum separated from blood cells. Cheaper because it lasts indefinitely, the powder merely requires dissolving in sterile water before trans-

"Experience in Europe during the resent war," Dr. Maes said, "has shown that many deaths from hock, hemorrhage and burns can be prevented by the transfusion of

Sees Widespread Bloodshed

"Many editors in this country feel that the president pledged this country to the defeat of Hitler, with all that it means in the way of blood and suffering to our own people.

"Of course he has done that -several times since the election-in his fireside chats. But this is a formal document between the heads of two great countries. The president says we are not a belligerent and then assumes the role of one, in the eves of the world, in making this joint statement with another belligerent.

"Now is the time to recall again the recent statement of ty-five cents. the two field commanding British generals that Hitler could not be defeated unless we -the people of the United States-landed another A.E.F. in Europe, that the British could not spare any of their boys for this expedition, and therefore it was up to us.

If you have, you know a very little about the feelings of these poor men and women, who because they dared stand by their convictions, were in danger of being tortured and put to death. You were in no danger of losing your life because you took a stand for you can appreciate their terror and unhappiness in small measure. There are many in the world today who also are suffering for their convictions and going to Nero in Home had set the extheir death therefor, sad to relate. QUEEN OF THE 1941 FAIR-Miss Rosemary Ferrone, of Cresaptown, last evening was crowned "Queen of the 1941 Cumberland Fair" at appropriate ceremonies in front of the grandstand at Fairgo. Miss Ferrone, center, won the annual contest by amassing a grand total of 11,860 votes. Seated on her left is Ruth Spangler, of Ridgeley, W. Va., runner-up, who received 11,320 votes while to the right is Miss Olive Robinette, of Cumberland, who was crowned queen at Fairgo in 1940. The latter placed the crown of roses on the head of the new queen and also presented her with the badge of honor. Miss Ferrone and Miss Spangler each were presented diamond rings. The fifteen other girls who participated in
